QUOTES FROM THE CLASS OF 2012

"Medical school is demanding but interesting. I'm enjoying learning skills and gaining knowledge that will better enable me to serve and relate to others."

"I work with young parents to get their GEDs, expand job skills, and gather life experiences in order to further empower them to break a cycle of poverty and state dependency."

"I am working under MCC SALT program for a one year term serving in Durban, South Africa. I am working as a social worker at an organization called Refugee Social Services."

"I am currently working in an inner city high school with students who have learning disabilities. It isn't a setting I ever pictured myself working in, but because Eastern so adequately prepared me, I absolutely love it!"

"I am the first ever assistant lacrosse coach at Houghton College in upstate New York! I am helping to build a Christ-centered team and program."

"I am currently working as a staff accountant at a mid-sized public accounting firm...I am very busy at this time and enjoying my experiences in my first tax season."

"I am narrowing my career focus by pursuing a graduate degree in environmental engineering. Thanks to my undergraduate education at EU, I am bringing the knowledge of a variety of modern environmental issues and a passion for environmental stewardship."

"I am a full-time professional juggler. I perform at corporate events, colleges, NBA halftime shows, and on television."

"I love my AmeriCorps position with Habitat for Humanity...it's exhausting but rewarding."

"I have devoted much of my time working to develop my skills as a computer programmer. Though I am starting a career in a field mostly unrelated to my major, I have found steady employment in a skill that is interesting to me."

"I am doing campus ministry at Philadelphia University through the CCO. I am the advisor for the only Christian ministry on campus."

"I just started working with a social entrepreneurship start-up in Philadelphia called sitiCare."
