

National Christian Multicultural Student Leaders Conference Inc.
Eastern University
1300 Eagle Road, St. Davids, PA 19087
November 7-9, 2008

Conference Theme:

Faith Through Action: Bridging the Multicultural Gap One Student at a Time
1 John 3:18

What is the NCMSLC?

The National Christian Multicultural Student Leaders Conference (NCMSL) is an annual student development conference that aims to provide participants with knowledge and skills that enhance their understanding of multicultural ideals, challenges and realities and the role of the Christian students and Christian institution in the journey toward cultural competency. The NCMSLC experience helps participant better understand the essential steps for developing models of change to address their personal and collective needs on campus and in society.

Who Should Attend?

Students, administrators, student development professional and university personnel interested in enhancing multicultural

What's in it for me as a student?

The opportunity to enhance your leadership skills and broaden your cultural awareness while making new friends and celebrating diversity in the body of Christ.

What does my fee include?

Conference fees include all conference sessions, information packets, student lodging, conference social activities, NCMSLC t-shirts and the following meals: Friday lunch and dinner, Saturday, breakfast, lunch and dinner, Sunday, Breakfast and luncheon banquet.

Where will I sleep?

Students will stay on campus in our residence halls with students of Eastern University.
Advisors will stay at local hotels.

How should I dress?

Feel free to dress casual and comfortable. Don't forget to bring something special to wear to the banquet.

What should I pack?

Sleeping bag, pillow, towel, washcloth, toiletries.

Question? Call the office of Multicultural Student Initiatives at Eastern University between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 pm. Monday through Friday at (610) 341-5872 or email jirving@eastern.edu